

Membership of the ABCB is an invaluable opportunity for NQA to engage nationally and internationally with our industry peers, regulators, regional accreditation groups and the International Accreditation Forum.

It provides NQA a great opportunity to work collaboratively on industry initiatives, including the recently published blended audit framework TPS 74. ABCB gives NQA the ability to have direct input to, and feedback from, prominent industry committees such as the UKAS Management System Certification Technical Advisory Committee and the UKAS Policy Advisory Forum.

Such high-level engagement has enabled us to ensure the interests of our organisation, staff and clients are represented in matters that will directly affect them; something which is of huge importance to us in our mission to help our customers to do better, consistently, continually, and sustainably.

Through the ABCB membership network we have access to insights, expertise and guidance where needed, and are better connected to the industry that we're a part of.
